WACO BUTCHERS TO LOSE TRADE OF ARMY CAMP

DR. BRUMBY IN STATEMENT TO NEWS TELLS OF OFFICERS' DISSATISFACTION.

ARMY WILL SHIP IN ALL MEAT FOR SOLDIERS

DR. MINNOCK ASKED IF HE WILL REPORT TO COUNCIL, REPLIES "NO."

Waco butchers have lost their chance to participate in the huge business of supplying meat to the thousands of national guardsmen who will populate the Waco camp August 5.

Army officers, particularly those who have in charge the sanitation aspect of the guard camp, have told local citizens that they will buy all meat from outside firms and have it shipped in to the Waco camp.

The conditions of meat slaughter in Waco are responsible for this turn of affairs in Waco business conditions which have anticipated the arrival of the guards.

Dr. R. F. Minnock's attention has been called to the matter and it has been suggested he bring it to the attention of the city council. Dr. Minnock is city physician.

These facts are stated on the authority of Dr. W. M. Brumby, former state health officer and now assistant medical examiner of the Amicable Life Insurance company who told them in an interview to the Morning News yesterday.

Information that army officers were not satisfied with the meat slaughtering system in Waco came shortly after the arrival of the army officers this week to prepare preliminary details of the guard camp here. They expressed dissatisfaction with conditions. The government's requirements in this regard call for both an anti- and post-mortem examination, which means that the stock for slaughter must be examined while yet on hoof and then again after the meat has been prepared for sale.

Dr. Minnock, called on the telephone by the Morning News last night, stated that he did not intend bringing a report before the city commission today.

Construction of more than 2500 tent houses for housing soldiers, the understanding being that these houses will in most cases have lumber floors and side walls, with cloth tops for the present.

Construction of administration buildings, officers' quarters, mess halls, Y. M. C. A. and other buildings. The building of a base hospital of about 1000 beds, at a cost of $15,000. The providing of wooden shelter and feeding racks for about 10,000 head of livestock.

Building of railroad tracks to the camp site. Extension of street car lines to the camp site at three points. Laying of water pipe to the camp site, and sewer lines requiring fifteen to twenty-five miles of pipe in each case.

Putting in of telephone and telegraph lines. Construction of buildings for an aviation school.

NEW JAIL IF IT COST ME OFFICE SAYS S. FLEMING

McLENNAN COUNTY OFFICIAL TELLS TEXAS SHERIFFS WHAT HE THINKS.

Special to The News.

San Antonio, July 11.—Stating that he will urge construction of a new, modern McLennan county jail even if it costs his defeat at the next election, Sheriff S. S. Fleming of Waco, addressed the thirty-ninth annual convention of the Texas Sheriff's association here today.

He said that after he had explained to McLennan county that the present jail is inadequate and has eleven insane inmates at the present time he believed the people would be in favor of a new jail at the expense of a bond election.

Jury men of Texas by assessing minimum penalties for murders are responsible for the increased number of murders the McLennan county law enforcer told his hearers. When two thirds of the murders are given the maximum punishment of violence in Texas will cease to exist, he declared. About 250 Texas sheriffs are attending the convention which will adjourn tomorrow.

KIRBY LOSES EVERYTHING BUT HIS SKIN AND RETURNS IN BATH SUIT

Joe Kirby, proprietor of Kirby's Drug store, had the misfortune of having his $10 hat, $10 silk shirt, $5 suit of underwear, suit of clothes, $60 Howard watch and about $4 in change stolen from him Monday evening while out on the Bosque enjoying himself. He was one of a swimming party.

Mr. Kirby was compelled to return to the city ala bathing suit.

MORE BAD EGGS COME TO ATTENTION OF HODGES; THREATENS A PROBING

Old King Soll with his sweltering rays is still causing trouble and worry to Food inspector Hodges. Bad egg complaints are still flooding his office, and the "breaking" point is near. It is said that if bad eggs continue to be sold, steps of prosecution will be taken immediately. With the recent mass of candling eggs, Dr. Hodges says that there is no excuse for bad eggs being dumped on unsuspecting customers, and it will take no longer than a minute to candle a dozen eggs at one lick.

HUGE OUTLAY IS SIGNIFICANT OF ARMY CAMP PLAN

SELECTION OF VARIOUS CAMP FEATURES INDICATE ITS MAGNITUDE.

BELIEVE AVIATION SCHOOL WILL BE LOCATED AT WACO

TOTAL ACREAGE FOR HOUSING SOLDIERS IS 2,317—OTHER DETAILS GIVEN.

There appears to be no end in sight to the ultimate magnitude of the United States guard camp in Waco, according to statements made yesterday by members of the Waco committee which has had charge of arrangements for the camp and members of the army officers' staff which is already in the city making preliminary arrangements for the arrival of troops August 5.

Those who have maintained that the army camp is to be of an enormous scale appear to have many of their predictions confirmed. It was found when the big camp site was marked out on the big map at the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday in the presence of staff officers, it contained 1,237 acres for housing troops. How much will be necessary in addition to this for drill and maneuver grounds will not be announced until officers in charge of that phase of the work arrive. It means an enormous addition in acreage, however.

Aviation Camp Seems Certain.

It appears practically certain, also, that Waco's camp is to land the aviation station rumored as coming here at various times during the past month. If Waco gets this feature, it will mean 2,400 aviators on salaries of about $125 each, minimum; 600 skilled mechanics, on salaries of from $6 to $8 a day, together with the usual quota of helpers. Grounds tentatively chosen for the aviation camp lie southwest of the main camp site and include the Newburg Heights tract and three other tracts adjoining, making a total of more than 700 acres.

Additional confirmation of administration buildings, Y. M. C. A. buildings, construction of mess halls and kitchens were given by officers and members of the Waco committee yesterday. A range for target practice has also been spoken of, to be located across the Bosque east of Lovers' Leap, so arranged that projectiles will strike the base of this famous spot.

Confirm Base Hospital.

Also there is the base hospital, announced over three weeks ago. The location chosen for this building is a short distance west of the Central Texas Baptist sanitarium at Thirtieth and Herring avenue. The army officers ask nearly 100 acres additional for this institution. According to the best information obtainable, the hospital will cost $15,000 and will contain practically 1,000 beds.

The camp site proper runs from a point near Lovers' Leap on the Bosque in a westerly and southwesterly direction to the Speegleville road, taking in a part of the Marshall dairy grounds. It is irregular in shape, as the high ground is followed.

CABLE INDICATES ZIMMERMAN MAY HAVE QUIT CABINET

By the Associated Press. Amsterdam, July 11.—The session of the crown council on Monday, says a Berlin telegram, lasted until 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the resignations were accepted definitely.

The imperial chancellor was directed to offer the vacant ministerial portfolios to the leaders of the reichstag and the Prussian diet. An imperial ministry of labor will be created under the socialists, Herbert or David.

The above dispatch does not reveal the identity of the ministers who resigned. Foreign Minister Zimmermann and Vice Chancellor Helfferich have been mentioned most often during the last few days as the ministers who would lose their portfolios.

IMMENSE PROFITS IN CAMP SITE PURCHASES NOT TRUE IS ARMY OFFICER'S REPLY

By the Associated Press. Washington, July 11.—A statement saying that published charges that immense profits have been made in cantonment construction is ridiculous and "extremely pernicious," was issued tonight by Col. L. W. Little, in charge of the cantonment building for the war department.

"Under such headings as 'Government hurting business,' 'Disturbing the labor market,' said Colonel Little, 'editorials and news items are appearing which are founded almost entirely on falsehood and the influence of which is pernicious.'"

A Vain Appeal

RUSS THREATEN LEMBERG AGAIN

ALONG YSER, HOWEVER, BRITISH HAVE BEEN FORCED BACK BY GERMANS.

By the Associated Press.

Having broken the strong Austro-German line in the vicinity of Halicz, the Russians are pushing forward from Halicz toward Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, and from Stanislaw, south of Halicz, westward toward the line of the Dniester.

After the capture of Halicz, on the front line from Halicz to Zolotvin, about thirty miles to the south, General Korniloff forced the Austro-Germans to continue their retreat. In their advance from Halicz, the Russians forced the fleeing enemy across the Lomnica and occupied two towns on the western bank of the river. The next natural barrier is the river Stoka, about six miles west of the Lomnica.

To Carpathian Foothills.

South and west of Stanislaw, the Russians have reached the Posiec-Lesluka-Karmacz line, the central point of which, Lesluka, is four miles west of the river Bystriza. This line is about seven miles east of Kalusz, the nearest large town west of Stanislaw, and which is situated in a bend of the Stoka river. The extension of the Russian fighting line to Zolotvin changes the battle ground into the foothills of the Carpathians.

On Tuesday the Russians captured 2,000 more prisoners and thirty guns, bringing their total captured from July 8 to 19 to more than 10,000 officers and men and eighty guns. A large amount of machine guns and war material also was taken. Berlin gives no details of Tuesday's fighting in Galicia, merely saying, "Movement south of the Dniester has been executed until now as planned."

British Meet Reverse.

On the Belgian coast east of Dunkirk the British and Germans are fighting again along the Yser, the scene of many hard-fought battles. By destroying the bridges across the Yser between Nieupoort and the North Sea coast, the Germans were able to advance and occupy the isolated section. Berlin claims the capture of 1,200 prisoners in the penetration of 600 yards along a front of 1,400 yards.

Further inland near Lombardzyce, the Germans did not have as much success. After gaining some advanced positions, the British threw the attackers back to their own lines by a counter attack. Whether the German effort is another attempt to reach Dunkirk or Calais, or is merely a London, July 11.—The sinking of fourteen British merchantmen of more than 1600 tons is reported in the weekly summary of shipping losses issued here. Three merchantmen of less than 1600 tons and seven fishing vessels also were sunk.

GERMAN PEOPLE AWAIT CROWN'S DECISION WITH REGARD TO PEACE TERMS

By the Associated Press.

Copenhagen, July 11.—Dispatches from Berlin this morning indicate, a pause in the development of the political crisis while the parties are waiting for the decision of the crown in regard to a ministerial reorganization and the question of peace terms. The coalition of the various elements in the German reichstag now arrayed against the government seem determined not to vote the war credit asked until the political crisis is settled.

PUR OFF DRAFT DRAWING WEEK

STATES ARE SLOW IN COMPLETING BOARDS AND CAUSE MORE DELAY.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, July 11.—Postponement until next week on drawing numbers of men who will be called for examination for the national army seemed possible today when it became evident that states are not completing organization of their district exemption boards as rapidly as war department officials had hoped.

Only twenty-two states have reported their organization complete, although in most cases only a few districts are missing. The drawing will not be made until the lists of the country are complete.

Pleas for exemption of any man need not be made by him, but may be entered by a wife, other dependent, employer or any other third person, the provost marshal general's office explained in a statement. It also explained that any registered man absent from his home district need not return for personal examination, but may be ordered by his home board to be examined elsewhere.

U. S. WANTS ROOT TO HURRY HOME AND TELL EXACT STATUS OF RUSS

By the Associated Press.

Washington, July 11.—The American mission to Russia is expected to return directly home instead of stopping off in Japan on the way. It is deemed urgent that Elihu Root return as quickly as possible so as to give the government his first hand personal acquaintance of the Russian situation.

MILDRED NIXON TO BE GIVEN TO HER FATHER

By the Associated Press.

The habeas corpus proceeding instituted in the seventy-fourth district court for possession of little 9-year-old Mildred Nixon will be dismissed, it was announced Wednesday. The action for possession of the child was instituted by W. J. Nixon, and the case was to come up for hearing today. Relatives who had the child decided, however, that they would not contest the matter and would give Mildred into the keeping of her father. The mother of Mildred, Mrs. Hattie Nixon, was killed at Marlin last week while making an airplane flight.

CONDEMN OWNERS, RATES UNLAWFUL

IN UNMEASURED TERMS HE TAKES TO TASKS EXORBITANT FREIGHT RATES.

PRESIDENT OUTLINES DUTIES WE MUST FOLLOW IN BIG WAR

PRICE FIXING MUST BE FAIR AND FACTS WILL BE MATTERS TO GUIDE US.

By the Associated Press. Washington, July 11.—President Wilson appealed to the country's business interests tonight to put aside every selfish consideration and to give their aid to the nation as freely as those who go out to offer their lives on the battlefields.

In a statement addressed to the coal operators and manufacturers the president gave assurances that just prices would be paid by the government and the public during the war, but warned that no attempt to extort unusual profits will be tolerated.

"Your patriotism," said the president's appeal, "is of the same self-denying stuff as the patriotism of the men dead and maimed on the fields of France, or it is no patriotism at all. Let us never speak then of profits and patriotism in the same sentence."

"I shall expect every man who is not a slacker to be at my side throughout this great enterprise. Without it no man can win honor who thinks of himself."

One Price for All.

The president declared there must be but one price for the government and for the public. He expressed the belief that business generally would be found loyal to the last degree and that the problem of war-time prices which he declared would mean "victory or defeat" will be solved rightly through patriotic co-operation.

In unmeasured terms, however, Mr. Wilson condemned the ship owners of the country for maintaining a schedule of ocean freight rates which has placed "almost insurmountable obstacles" in the path of the government.

"The fact is," he asserted, "that those who have fixed war freight rates have taken the most effective means in their power to defeat the armies engaged against Germany."

Coal production, and other industries for whose products the government has negotiated price agreements, are not taken up in detail, the appeal dealing only with the general principles involved in the determination of war prices. It follows in full:

Justice in Every Way.

"My Fellow Countrymen: The government is about to attempt to determine the prices at which it will ask you to contribute to furnish various supplies which are necessary for the prosecution of the war and various materials which will be needed in the industries by which the war must be sustained. We shall, of course, try to determine them justly and to the best advantage of the nation as a whole; but justice is easier to speak than to arrive at and there are some considerations which I hope we shall keep steadily in mind while this particular problem of justice is being worked out. Therefore, I take the liberty of stating very candidly my own view of the situation and of the principles which should guide both the public mind owners and manufacturers of the country in this difficult matter. A just price must, of course, be paid for everything the government buys. By just, I mean a price which will sustain the industries concerned in a high state of efficiency, provide a living for those who conduct them, enable them to pay good wages and make possible the expansions of their enterprises which will from time to time become necessary as the stupendous undertakings of this great war develop. We could not wisely or reasonably do less than pay such prices. They are necessary for the maintenance and development of industry and the maintenance and development of industry are necessary for the great task we have in hand.

Facts Are Masters.

"But I trust that we shall not surround the matter with a mist of sentiment. Facts are our masters now. We ought not to put the acceptance of such prices on the ground of patriotism. Patriotism has nothing to do with prices in a case like this. Patriotism and profits ought never in the present circumstances be mentioned together. It is perfectly proper to discuss profits as a matter of business with a view to maintaining a integrity of capital and the efficiency of labor in these tragic moments when the liberty of freedom are everywhere and of industry itself trembles in the balance, but it would be absurd to discuss them as a motive for helping to serve or save our country. Patriotism leaves profits out of the question. In these days of our supreme trial when we are sending hundreds of thousands of our young men across the seas to serve a great cause, true no man who stays behind to work for them and sustain them

MRS. J. F. MARSHALL DIED WEDNESDAY AT 5 O'CLOCK P. M.

Mrs. John F. Marshall died at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the family residence, 1207 Washington street, aged 71 years. She had lived in Waco for the past 63 years, and had always been very prominent in the social activities of this city and section. She was a member of a large family connection which has had much to do with the upbuilding of Waco, as many representatives of these families were the influential and wealthy residents of early days, whose efforts were bent toward laying a firm foundation for the development and progress of this city and section. Mrs. Marshall was the last member of a family of twelve children. She came to Waco with her parents in 1854, and had been here 63 years.

Mrs. Marshall was Miss Josie Downs, daughter of W. W. and Henrietta Downs, and was born January 24, 1846, at Mt. Hope, Ala. She was married at Waco January 20, 1869, to John F. Marshall. She was a member of St. Paul's Episcopal church. She had been prominently connected with various local organizations, and it was largely through her efforts and the efforts of other members of the Daughters of the American Revolution that the old Waco Spring, an historic spot, was preserved and permanently beautified and marked.

Mrs. Marshall is survived by her husband, John F. Marshall, and the following children: E. W. Marshall, Waco; J. F. Marshall Jr., Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Gilbert Hay, Raleigh, N. C.; P. M. Marshall, San Antonio, Texas.

NATIONAL TEACHERS URGE DRAFT EXEMPTIONS

By the Associated Press.
Portland, Ore., July 11.—Teachers attending the National Education association convention here today divided time on whether the association should recommend that male teachers should be exempted from the selective draft. A recommendation was made to the committee on resolutions that it pass a resolution recommending to the federal government that male teachers of the nation be exempted because their absence would cripple the school system.

JUST BECAUSE YOU ARE SMALL IS NO REASON YOU CAN'T JOIN ARMY

By the Associated Press.
Washington, July 11.—Small men make as good soldiers as good men, in the revised opinion of the war department, which has instructed recruiting stations to open the ranks of the regular army to men of height of no more than 5 feet 1 inch.

The order was issued on a basis of a recommendation of General Gorgas, who advised that good men were being weight limit of 5 feet 4 inches and 120 pounds. As a matter of fact, however, recruiting officers had been instructed not to enforce rigidly the minimum height and weight regulations and there are a considerable number now in the army who are below the 5 feet 4-inch requirements.

The new order will have a wide effect in national guard recruiting and probably selections for the national army. Regular army standards govern both of these services in a general way. The regular army still was short some 40,000 men when recruiting closed yesterday, only 1225 men having been accepted during the day. Vermont added two men, making eighty-seven furnished from that state since April 1 on a quota of 710.

BELIEVES HE COULD WIN IN FOOT RACE WITH MOST ANYONE

AFTER FOUR YEARS OF MISERY
HE FEELS SPLENDID AND HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS TAKING TANLAC.

"I have taken three bottles of Tanlac and have actually gained twenty-five pounds," was the remarkable statement made recently by Stephen Schneringer, head baker at the Brown Palace Hotel, Denver, Colo., and living at 801 Eighteenth avenue.

"I had dropped down in weight to 120 pounds," he continued, "and if you had seen me the day I started on Tanlac you wouldn't take me for the same man now. I was barely able to walk, but now I feel like I could win in a foot race with anybody. I began to have trouble with my stomach about four years ago and was told my trouble was nervous dyspepsia and I took about everything I heard of and spent a great deal of money but nothing did me any good. I was so nervous I could hardly sleep at all and I was badly constipated and lost strength and energy all the time, and the people around where I worked got to calling me 'The Crank' because I was so nervous and irritable and out of sorts all the time. At last I lost my appetite entirely and would get so weak and dizzy at times I would almost fall. Finally I simply had to give up work altogether and was down in bed for four months, unable to do a thing.

"I felt better almost as soon as I started on Tanlac. Pretty soon I was able to go back to work and I wasn't nervous and irritable like I had been. Everybody wanted to know what caused the change and I told them Tanlac, and now, a great many of the employees of the Brown Palace hotel are taking it, too. I am eating just anything I want and have been ever since the first few days I took Tanlac and my appetite is fine. I now weigh 145 pounds, making an actual gain of twenty-five pounds, and have never felt better in my life. I got to sleep at night and full of energy and can do my work with more ease than in a long time. That's what Tanlac has done for me and if there's another medicine in the world that will do so much for suffering people, I have never heard of it. My wife and children are now taking Tanlac, too, and we are all feeling fine."

Tanlac is sold in Waco by Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store, under the personal directions of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

BUSINESS NEWS!

In the old days the majority of businessmen did not advertise, and most of those who did had little idea as to how to go about making the ad interesting.

The newspapers carried a few standing cards, which read the same way, year in and year out, and usually ran something like this:

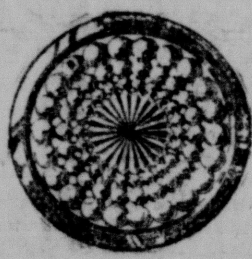

"John Jones—Dealer in Dry Goods and Notions. Full stock on hand all the time."

Naturally, it was hard to convince people that advertising was a good thing, with no better examples of what it could do than in the case of "John Jones."

But, poor as it was, this early advertising paid a little; for advertising in the newspapers must be done in a poor way indeed not to pay SOME return to the man over whose name it appears for any reasonable length of time.

And the little that it DID pay stirred up interest and prompted merchants to STUDY the subject, and after a while advertising grew to be BETTER, and as time went on STILL better, until TODAY the advertisements of the big stores, and little stores and shops all over the country, are EASY to READ, and ARE read and sought out for the elements of "News" and information that they contain, and people take about as much interest in the advertising columns as they do in anything else that appears in the paper.

And this is as it ought to be—for advertising is a legitimate newspaper feature, which operates for the good of the community—and no community can GROW or GET very far these times unless it has its share of progressive, advertising business houses.

SHORT ONES.

Greece just naturally is slipping into the war now that the sand is off the track.

Why is a potato bug? War gardeners want to know.

Lens means coal to the allies; and coal means life.

What the governor of South Carolina said to the governor of North Carolina will be nothing to what Pershing will say to the Kaiser when he bags that old scallawag.

THE CRUX OF THE COAL SITUATION.

THERE are some things everybody knows. One of them is that coal is the very basis of all our industry and is needed in every home where the winter is severe enough to require heat. Another is that coal is scarcer than it has been for years and that the price is higher and more oppressive.

But the thing about the situation that everybody does not know and for which everybody is seeking the reason is why coal should be so scarce and why the price should be so high.

Congress is tackling it, the federal trade commission is tackling it, the advisory commission of the national council of defense is tackling it. There are many discussions about it. When all is said and done the situation would seem to resolve itself down to this:

The scarcity of coal and the high price of coal are due to the fact that the railroads have not supplied to the coal mines the number of coal cars adequate to carry the product to market.

Scarcity in food products is often due to poor crops. Scarcity in manufactured products is often due to inability to speed up the production. But no such thing applies to coal. There is in this country the greatest supply of unmined and workable coal in the world. The mines already developed are capable of supplying every need of the industrial and domestic life of our people. The rich black seams are there for the miners. The supply of skilled labor is also there.

But no mining company can work its lodes full speed ahead unless there are cars to take the product to market.

And that is just exactly where the railroads have failed the miners and the country. They have not made a wise use of the cars they have on hand.
They have not effected an equitable distribution. They have diverted coal cars to other uses. They have suffered cars to be employed on long consuming hauls when they might have been used on short hauls.

If all the governmental and trade bodies, which are now wrestling with the question, will bring about some method of giving the coal miners enough cars, there will soon be more than enough coal for every use. Then it will not be necessary to fix a coal price. The price will regulate itself.
The law of supply and demand will fix the price, because with a supply more than equal to the demand, the charge for coal will drop to its proper level.

WELLS ON THE RAMPAGE.

THERE is no more independent writer today than the Englishman H. G. Wells. Every time he takes his pen in hand he writes something that stimulates to thought, if not to bitter discussion.

Just at present a novel is being issued in serial form that is bound to provoke much argument on both sides of the Atlantic. It will do so especially in England where despite its essential democracy, the country still retains the gilded figurehead of kingship and where despite religious tolerance, the established church still retains its greater power and privileges.

For Wells is proclaiming in this new piece of fiction that out of this war will come an era of republics and an age of religion that will transcend the narrow confines of creed.

Wells tried to project himself into space and view this our world from afar. In this frame of mind he is optimist rather than pessimist. He sees an end to kings and thrones. No more will a few dynasts be able to say whether the world shall be plunged into bloody war or remain in blessed peace. The peoples will take unto themselves the power and the government.

In the same way, he has a vision of what is coming in the religious field.
There will be less belief in God, but more. However, he advances the theory that the new belief in God will not allow itself to be confined by sects and creeds. It will be something bigger, something broader, something more tolerant, something with more of the spirit of the Christ in it than anything we have known since Jesus ceased to preach in the Holy Land.

Coming from a man who was once rated as an agnostic, coming from a man stirred to his depths by the awful world-tragedy of which he is an unhappy witness, this message is sure to be the theme of many an angry sermon.

But Wells will be happy. He will have stirred men to think and that after all is the greatest duty of the writer who cares more about progress of the world than the size of his own bank account.

DESIRABILITY OF INDEPENDENCE.

WHEN the 13 colonies were entering the struggle for independence, Thomas Paine wrote a great essay on the desirability of independence. What he said then finds expression today as fitting as when the words were penned. This is what he said:

"The period of debate is closed.
Arms, as the last resource, must decide the contest; the appeal was the choice of the king, and the continent hath accepted the challenge. (Today the appeal was the choice of the despot and the world accepts the challenge.)

"The sun never shined on a cause of greater worth. . . . It is not the concern of a day, a year, or an age, posterity are virtually involved in the contest, and will be more or less affected, even to the end of time, by the proceedings now.

"By referring the matter from argument to arms, a new era for politics is struck, a new method of thinking bath arisen. All plans, proposals, etc., prior . . . to the commencement of hostilities, are like the almanacs of the last year, which, the proper then, are superceded and useless now.

"O ye that love mankind! Ye that dare oppose not only tyranny but the tyrant, stand forth!"

Paine might have written yesterday, with the German autocrat the target of his keen analysis.

TOWARD UNITY.

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

It is at least interesting, though it may sometimes render one a nuisance to take a long look ahead. I say it makes a nuisance of one. Did you ever reflect that the main trouble with those enthusiasts who "would turn the world upside down" is that they have got drunk on the future? Fixing their gaze upon a far point of human development, they are apt to be impatient with their plodding fellows who have to rub along with conditions as they are, feed the children, run the government, and keep the furnace going in the school house.

Such are Christians (what few real ones there may be), Socialists, anarchists, pacifists, single taxers, prohibitionists, and the like.

But let us see what the future will probably bring to the race. Certain goals are clearly indicated. What are they?

1. The trend of all forces now extant among men is toward unity. All lines of development are converging. It is no mere fine phrase of Tennyson's:

The one divine far off event
To which the whole creation moves.

2. For instance, there will never be another new race, such as German, French African, and so on. What caused these races in the first place was isolation.

"If the ancestors of Swede and Arab,
Saxon and Negro, Greek and Chinaman had all lived together and freely intermarried there would never have been any Swedes, Arabs, Saxons, Greeks or Chinamen, but instead a homogeneous race differing from them all," said Professor Maynard F. Metcalf of the Orchard Laboratory of Oberlin, Ohio, in a recent address before the Chinese Students' Alliance.

"We are entering upon a new anthropological period, a period in which divergent evolution has ended and a fusion of the races will begin. The ultimate human species will be one complex race fused from all those present races which succeed in existing."

3. There never will be another language. Dialects also were caused and developed by isolation. Time will bring some day that universal compound tongue toward which Volapuk and Esperanto are the artificial strivings.

4. Nationalism will eventually cease.
It is too expensive and too dangerous.
The Parliament of Man is nearer than we think. It is becoming a stern, military necessity.

The present form of religious expression, by denominational organizations, will die away. The moral sentiment of mankind is steadily unifying.
More and more emphasis is being laid upon those ethical impulses common to all creeds. In time there will be one human faith. (It will be yours, of course. Cheer up.)

6. Point 6 included a number of inflammable points regarding woman suffrage, single tax, tariffs, schools, and so on, which have been deleted by the censor, who wants to know why I can't write without antagonizing some of our best people. He also doesn't like point 5, but thinks maybe it's mild and general enough to pass.

When these things come human history will begin; it is just getting ready now.

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONESES—Pa's Clever.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, July 9.—There is no use in talking the man who runs Mrs. Bilmore's boarding house is a genius. He just thinks up ideas right out of his own head every day or so. It has long been an axiom in New York that chickens, speaking in the vernacular of Broadway, change their hours when they come to the city.

And that the contagion of night life would also affect canaries, sweated and gentled of trillars, was not known until the Cascades, atop the Biltmore, were opened for the perspiring season.
It was decided by someone that fifty Orkney canaries would make pleasing musical interludes for the orchestra.
The manager said to go ahead and tell old man Orkney to send up fifty of his choice soloists. And a big problem arose after delivery.

It consisted in the willingness of the canaries to run the gamut all day, but as soon as night and the crowds arrived they tucked their heads under their wings, poor things, and went off to the canary land of Nod.

The other day, however, the manager thought of something. Early in the morning he covered the canaries' cages with black cloths, so that being without ankle watches that chickens wear, they slept through the entire day.

At seven o'clock when the diners arrived, the cloths were removed and the canaries lifting their heads in thanksgiving at having lived through one of the longest nights they had ever experienced, greeted the effulgent gleams of the roof garden with trills and runs that had formerly been reserved for the morning sun.

Eugene Kelcey Allen, a widely known Broadway character, dropped into a white tiled tontorial parlor the other night late. He bore up bravely under the war conversation and when the knight of the sheers and razor inflicted a good sized wound under the left ear the victim only groaned a bit.

Again a cut brought a protesting sign from Allen, but when the third laceration was visited upon him, he roused his spirits to the point of protesting.
"Say," he declared, "that's the third time you've cut me. My face must be a sight."

"Well, what of it?" demanded the barber, stropping his razor nonchalantly. "You ain't goin' no where."

Theatre goers are now regaled by the Minute Men of New York. The Minute Men are prominent New Yorkers on instant call to talk for four minutes at any theatre designated and is under government regulation. The government selects the subjects about which they must talk. It is just a way for men who are not active in service to do their bit. They explain questions that come up regarding America's part in the war. Among the Minute Men appearing in Broadway theatres are William R. Hearst, Judge Swann, Augustus Thomas, Charles Dana Gibson, Copeland Townsend, Elbert H. Gary,
H. L. Doherty, J. P. Morgan, Jr., and Darwin P. Kingsley.

It adjusts itself serenely.

Food dictations most emphatic

Say, "Just do the best you can."
And I take the check he sends me
For my little twenty-five.
The no time to growl or quibble.
I'm daunted to be alive.

"HETTY"

HETTY MEETS MRS. DURHAM AND SLAYS A DRAGON ON THE SAME DAY.

BEGIN HERE

Hetty Anderson, 22, leaves Rogers after mother's death, comes to Waco, and lives in a cheap boarding house, where
she meets a rather fascinating woman,
Mrs. Ned Brad, who has left her husband for "Billy" Matthews, a well-to-do man about town. When Hetty takes her first job with him and Ned, he falls in love with Hetty and a scene with Ned follows. Ned goes back to her husband and Hetty pursues Hetty's friendship while she works at Sanger's and later at the Bethlehem Machinery company. He takes her Cameron park in its car on a picnic,
but he never loves her, but for
the moment seems married.

Hetty's desirability finally provokes her mother's death, comes to Waco, and
lives in a cheap boarding house, where
she meets a rather fascinating woman,
Mrs. Ned Brad, who has left her husband for "Billy" Matthews, a well-to-do
man about town. When Hetty takes her
first job with him and Ned, he falls in love
with Hetty and a scene with Ned follows. Ned goes back to her husband and Hetty pursues Hetty's friendship while she
works at Sanger's and later at the Bethlehem Machinery company. He takes her Cameron park in its car on a picnic,
but he never loves her, but for
the moment seems married.

Hetty receives a box of roses from Billy with a request for an engagement but she sends the evening card for a little while Mrs. Joe nurses her husband, Joe Simmons, through a night of delirium remains.
Hetty impulsively offers her hundred dollars of insurance money to pay simmon's fees for Joe Simmons, and makes the acquaintance of a little "business" girl, Alice Tarver, who timidly offers friendship.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

My work was lightened that day by the sweet thought of a kindly deed, and if occasionally the thought of the pretty clothes I had intended to buy with at least a part of my hundred dollars obtruded, it could not chill the warmth of my heart, which swelled with pity for the cheery little lady who was so valiantly fighting "devils" and for the rest of the unhappy family.

About 9 o'clock the surly bookkeeper, young Baker, laid a sheaf of delinquents on my desk, with the pencilled notation, "Send itemized statements."
As he turned back into his own sanctuary, I stuck out my tongue at him in childish and impotent wrath, and was nearly detected by Mr. Durham, who came bolting in. He too, had something for me to do out of the ordinary.

He tossed me a great handful of price lists to be correctly typed for the new catalogue that was about to be issued.

"I'll have a bunch of letters for you in a few minutes, Miss er-er Anderson," he shouted on his way out. The most remarkable thing to me about my employer was the fact that he was always in a "tearing" hurry and that people scuttled out of his path like frightened rabbits. I felt an inclination to hide my head, busy my fingers or run every time he approached me.
My heart always sank clear to my patent leather slippers when I heard his noisy entrance, and I know that I never looked at him without some premonition of danger or harshness. The man was never actually cruel to me as long as I worked for him, but I always shrank as if he were about to deliver a blow.

My resolution of that morning had crystallized into a determination to make myself the best stenographer that he had ever had, to turn out more work than any one else had done and to force him to recognition of me. But he had unloaded the extra work, with no explanations, and I had stood staring at him with frightened eyes. With tears of vexation, I turned back to my desk, fumbling aimlessly with the list of the people who were to get itemized statements and the price sheets.
I began to wonder with a sort of cold fear that struck hard at my courage if I could stand it. I remembered Miss Hadley and shivered, and then I attacked myself ruthlessly: "You can do as much work as any woman of your training, Hetty Anderson, and you're not going to get into a blue funk and fall down on the job. Your mother made a living for you and herself and she wasn't a professional laborer at all.
You make me tired!" I dashed my tears away and began to pound determinedly on my typewriter, typing the corrected lists. Until noon I struggled with them, and after a hasty lunch of hamburgers and peaches bought at a nearby stand on Franklin street, I attacked the big ledgers for the itemized statements.

Mr. Durham had not returned, and when he did it was with his wife, a frail, pretty little woman, who tried in a dozen unobtrusive ways to show her kindly feeling for me, yet I could not help feeling that she was patronizing me. She asked very solicitously about Miss Hadley, sighed when I told her of the little stenographer's nervous breakdown, and then asked aimless, sweet questions about my own life. I answered rather at random, keeping busy as I did so, for I felt that her interest, while prompted by a naturally kind heart, was but superficial. She wandered daintily through the big, rusty, ugly rooms, holding her white skirts high from her little canvas slippers.

and twitching her small nose as she scooped some specially dirty or greasy machine. The men all spoke cordially, but briefly, as if they were used to her presence.

"Edna, come here," bellowed Mr.
Durham, and she scuttled back into the room, making a little face at his broad back as she did so. She smiled at me as she passed the desk and then closed the door behind her. The rumble of his voice and an occasional shrill note in her soprano voice filtered through the door and I judged that they were quarreling. After a while he preceded her and his stubby chin set hard. She came out with heightened color, but with a triumphant set to her pretty blond head. He followed her to the curb, saw her off in their big touring car, and then stamped back into the office. When I heard his step near, I could feel his eyes boring into my back as if he were wondering just how much I had heard.
Then my newborn independence began to clamor for expression and I straightened up in my chair, and faced him.

"It is nearly 4 o'clock, Mr. Durham," I told him calmly. "Is the mail about ready? I'm afraid I won't have time to get it all out."

He stopped still and glared at me.
For the first time I was something more than a machine to him. I was somebody, but just who he couldn't figure out for the minute. In a quite comical way he turned undecidedly on his heel, then walked toward his door, reconsidered and walked back again:

"I guess I can hold it until in the morning. You've got enough on hand now. Get your filing up early in the morning and we'll tackle the stack then."

Then he really went into his office.
I clasped my hands tightly, trying to hold on to my composure. But a song of victory, the first pean of a conqueror, rang in my brain. I knew that I was going to succeed.

At 6 o'clock I rang Miss Tarver, who was employed at a hardware store and arranged to meet her at Fifth and Austin, and from there to go out on South Fifth to visit Miss Hadley.

COLLEGE GIRLS FOR NURSES.

By Jessie Roberts.

Service in the field, service abroad, is calling hundreds of graduate nurses to the Red Cross. This will mean an increasing scarcity of nurses for work at home—a scarcity that is going to be seriously felt if the war, as seems so likely, is to last through next year.

To meet this need young college women are being urged to take up nursing. Teachers' College, at Columbia University, has arranged for a new and special course with the Presbyterian hospital, whereby students can combine nursing with the college curriculum. This is open only to students who have two years of college work behind them, and will be given this summer.

The short first aid courses now being taken by so many women are good in their way and for what they are supposed to do, but they are no use in supplying graduate nurses to hospitals or for private practice.

There is one important thing to consider in taking a course in nursing at a hospital, and that is to go to a first-class institution. The treatment of the student nurses varies widely, and there are hardships to be endured in a poorly equipped or poorly run hospital that no woman should be asked to undergo. Now that there is so great a demand for student nurses, it is well for the young women who intend to follow the profession, to be particular in their choice of the places where they will work and study and from which they will get their degrees.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulitised coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly, and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulitised coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Little Stories for Bedtime

TIMIDEST LITTLE MINK HAS HER TURN TO LAUGH.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

(Copyright, 1917, by T. W. Burgess.) There is a saying wise and old. And often have you heard it told; Who keeps his laughter till the rest Have finished laughing laughs the best.

Of course this is just a way of saying that very often people who laugh at another find they have made a mistake and that they are the ones to be laughed at. Something of the kind happened in the case of the five little Minks who had gone out to play the bank of the Laughing Brook. The timidest little Mink, who was very timid indeed, had suddenly discovered what looked like a black stump close by her favorite little pool in the Laughing Brook and she couldn't remember having seen it before. When she asked her brothers and sisters if they remembered it she found that not one of them did. This was enough for the timidest little Mink. There was something suspicious about that black stump and she promptly decided that the place for her was under the shelter of the pile of brush that hid their home.

How the others did laugh at her and make fun of her for being so afraid of an old black stump. They said she was a silly little thing and called her "fraydy" and said she would run from her own shadow. Finally they went on with their play, still laughing at their timid little sister until at last they forgot her altogether in the fun they were having. Neither did they give the old black stump another thought.

So they romped and played tag and wrestled and had the best of good times while the timidest little Mink peeped out from under the pile of brush and watched them and envied them and still was afraid to join them because no one could remember having seen that big black stump before. At length the four little Minks grew tired of frolicking. "Let us go fishing," said one. "Just the thing!" cried another. "Who'll catch the first fish?"

To the edge of the Laughing Brook they scampered and then like true fishermen became very quiet and cautious as they stole around the edge of a little pool watching for careless minnows at play. From one pool to another they went until they came to the pool near which was the big black stump. In this pool was a big school of lively minnows and the eyes of the four little Minks glistened. They didn't even glance at the big black stump. They had no eyes for anything but those minnows in the little pool.

Just as the four little Minks were creeping past the big black stump it suddenly came to life. Yes, air, that is just what the big black stump did. It suddenly jumped right at the four little Minks and reached for them with big paws armed with great claws. That big black stump was Buster Bear.

Lucky it was that those four little Minks naturally were quick. Buster Bear himself is quick, but he isn't as quick as lively young Mink. Those four little Minks dodged and darted in four different directions and Buster's big paws missed them altogether, though only by the teeniest, weeniest bit. Then how those four little Minks did scamper back to the safety of the pile of brush where the timidest little Mink was watching. They were so frightened that their teeth chattered.

"The timidest little Mink didn't say 'I told you so!'" She didn't say a word. But by and by the four little brothers and sisters discovered that she was chuckling to herself. "What are you laughing at?" they demanded. "My thoughts," said she, and that is all they could get out of her. But they knew what those thoughts were, and they knew that her laugh was the best laugh. And in their hearts they decided that never again would they laugh at the timidest little Mink for being afraid.

FRESH AIR FOR YOUR NERVES.

By Mary E. Walter.

In the interest of preparedness sidestep your worries, get the best of your nerve jangles by sleeping on a sleeping porch. What has a sleeping porch to do with preparedness, you ask? The answer is Fresh Air! Without this human necessity you'll be about half alive to fight your fight, especially if that fight is as an indoor worker earning a living or keeping house. Do folks howl at you day time for wanting to open windows and let in "draughts"? Do they insist on making you suffer because they wish to be unaided, smelly and unventilated? You can make it up yourself nights when you are "your own boss," by sleeping in the blessed open air.

For such as seek physical preparedness and health conservation, here is a message of cheer from the Life Extension Institute which stands for health and hygiene and knows its ground:

"Fortunately for the upkeep of our national health, health specialists all over the country are prescribing sleeping porches for indoor workers, those susceptible to tuberculosis, sleeplessness, nerves and even pneumonia. By the tonic influence of fresh air, ever moving nightly, you can happily increase your vitality upon which so much depends your capacity to hold your job, double your resistance to colds and germ diseases, control your nerve jangles, and so buoyed mentally sidestep your worries. For sleeping porches, rightly planned, revitalize."

At the mention of sleeping porches some folks howl. "Malaria! Night air! Damp air!" To these objections the institute replies: "Malaria is not from the air, but from the bite of the anopheles mosquito, so screen out the mosquito. Damp air is better than stale air. Fogs and damp are skin tonics that benefit the circulation of the fact. (Item: A saving in drug store pink.) Night air is as pure as day air and in cities sometimes purer."

But you have no porch? There's an entire book written on various substitutes, window tents, etc., some of them quite inexpensive. Then there is the free for all method of putting the end of a cot out the window and sleeping with your head out, having a canopy or trusting to the open sky. Too light? Tie a black stocking over your eyes. Draughts? Avoid severe ones, get used to gentle ones, which are only "fresh air," and regain the vigor that will make you look, feel and act 100 per cent worth while to yourself and your country.

recital McConnell Rousseau will give a recital in piano and voice at Carroll chapel this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Both are artists of rare ability and their recital has been looked forward to as one offering an unusual opportunity to hear good music.

MRS. FREDERICK EBY DEMONSTRATES WAR BREAD.

Mrs. Frederick Eby's lectures and demonstrations are attracting the attention of the whole city. They are given every afternoon on the Baylor campus, where it is almost cool, if not quite. The lectures are being well attended.

Mrs. Eby's demonstration on Saturday was on "War Bread," which utilizes cottonseed flour. The bread is said to be really delicious and of greater value as a food than an all-wheat loaf.

Mrs. Eby will today continue her cotton flour demonstrations, corn meal recipes, and will give a demonstration of the preparation of "scrapple," a combination of cotton flour, corn meal and ground meat.

Mrs. Eby's recipe for cottonseed flour biscuits follows: Two-thirds cup cottonseed flour, 1-3 cups wheat flour, 2 tablespoons Wesson oil, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup milk. Add the oil to the milk and stir into the flour into which the salt and baking powder have been sifted.

Scrapple—Cook scrap meat until tender, and grind. To 2-3 cup meat, 1-3 cup of cottonseed flour and 2-3 cup corn meal, add 3 cups of water, 2-3 teaspoon salt, and one small onion chopped fine. Cook in double boiler thirty minutes. This may be browned in a skillet, or when the mush is cold it may be moulded into a loaf, basted with tomato juice and baked. It should be served with a tomato sauce. If a meat broth is used instead of water the corn meal and cottonseed flour may be doubled without increasing the quantity of meat. The meat is really used for flavoring.

WARD OF TEMPLE ENJOINED FROM ACTING REGENT

PRO-UNIVERSITY PARTY HAS ITS INNING THRU ACTION OF JUDGE GRAVES.

By the Associated Press.
Austin, July 11.—Temporary injunction restraining John Ward of Temple from assuming the duties as regent of the University of Texas in the place of S. J. Jones was granted today at noon by Judge Ireland Graves of the twenty-sixth district court. The petition is also mandatory in that it compels the other members of the board to recognize Jones as a regent and E. J. Mathews secretary of the board to record Jones' vote. The injunction also restrains Ward from attempting to prosecute in any other court any suit having for its purpose restrain of Jones from the discharge of his duties as regent of the university.

Neither Governor Ferguson nor his secretary were in Austin today and it could not be determined when the chief executive took steps to name John Ward in the place of J. E. Tucker of Galveston, who was originally appointed by the governor to take Jones' place upon the board and who was restrained by an injunction granted by Judge Graves. According to the petition, however, Tucker has resigned his appointment and Ward has been named in his stead.

INCENDIARY ORIGIN IS BELIEVED RESPONSIBLE FOR BIG ELEVATOR FIRE

By the Associated Press.
Vernon, July 11.—Fire which J. A. Birdson, manager, believes to be of incendiary origin today destroyed one of the grain elevators of the Kell Milling company here. The loss was in excess of $5,000.

Destruction of grain and crippling of the food supply was supposed to be the incendiary's motive.
Besides destroying the elevator, the fire damaged four Ford cars and a Taylor freight car. Because of the proximity of two large oil and gas tanks the entire northern section of the town was threatened.
Several times men scaled the tanks to remove burning shingles.

PARROT YELLS "HELL'S BROKE LOOSE" AND THEN PASSENGERS GET SCARED

By the Associated Press.
Texarkana, July 11.—"Hurricane! hell's broke loose here." These words were cried in a shrill voice at the union passenger station here this morning, startling scores of passengers, station employees and others.
Station employees hastily searched about the station in an effort to find the "break." Finally the author of the cry was found in a large coop containing about 100 Mexican parrots which were being shipped from Laredo, Texas, to Des Moines, Iowa.

One of the parrots was almost overcome with thirst and he uttered the above words to impress station employees of the seriousness of his condition.
The parrot was given water and he cackled with satisfaction.

Austin, July 11.—Comptroller H. B. Terrell said today that he has been receiving information to the effect that a number of saloon men over the state will disregard his ruling recently issued and close their places of business according to sun time and not by standard time as prescribed by the law. In this connection the comptroller announced today that he will forfeit the liquor license of every retail liquor dealer in the state who disregards his ruling and attempts to keep his place open later than 9:30 p. m. standard time.

HILLSBORO IN INJUNCTION AGAINST COMPRESS COMPANY

By the Associated Press.
Hillsboro, July 11.—A called session of the city council was held last night to transact business accumulated because of a failure to meet at the regular time last Tuesday night. A resolution introduced by Alderman Denman for the withdrawal of the injunction suit filed against the Exporters and Traders Compress company to prevent the obstruction of a certain street where it crosses the railroad tracks between the oil mill and the compress was defeated by a tie vote in which the mayor cast the deciding ballot.

INCREASE BELL CO. FAIR PRIZES

PUTTING MONEY UP TO GET BEST POSSIBLE HORSE AND MOTOR RACES.

Special to The News.
Belton, July 11.—All purses in all racing events of the Bell county fair were increased for this fall at a meeting of the finance committee yesterday afternoon. Those present were P. L. Downs, chairman; E. W. Moore, treasurer; Sam H. Carter and D. H. McKemie.

In the automobile races the purses were increased from $500 of last year to $1,500 for this season. The motorcycle purse money was increased from $150 to $450.

There will be three days of horse racing. Two purses of $300 each will be given each day for harness races. In the running races there will be two purses each day, one $150 and the other $100. Both of these purses are larger than what was offered last year.

On the third day of the horse races there will be a special stake of $300 for 2-year-old runners. This race is expected to attract statewide interest. Other races of a like nature this year have drawn entries from all over the country.

"The fair management is putting up the money necessary to get the best in every line, motor races and horse races," said D. H. McKemie yesterday. Secretary McKemie is putting forth every effort to make all departments of the fair a success. All six of the automobiles to be given away during the fair have been secured and each day there will be some one who will secure one of these new cars. From now to then the cars will be on exhibition in salesrooms and show windows and will not be run one mile before they get to the parties who get them during the fair.

A telegram received from there today states that the dog's head showed no indication of hydrophobia and therefore so serious effects are expected to follow the bite received by the child.

FAULK SUSPECT ALREADY UNDER ONE SENTENCE

MAN CHARGED WITH GIRL'S MURDER FACES BURGLARY CHARGE IN TARRANT.

Special to The News.
Fort Worth, July 11.—That the murder of Zella Faulk, to which he is alleged to have confessed at Portland, Ore., Monday, was not the first crime of which Rufus Coates has been found guilty, was brought out in the trial of Pat Riley for the burglary of a private car of Santa Fe railway officials, in criminal district court Tuesday afternoon. County Attorney Granville Jones and Deputy Sheriff John Cobble of Cooke county declared that both Riley and Rufus Coates had entered pleas of guilty to burglary charges at Gainesville on February 20 of this year and had been given suspended sentences.

The two Cooke county officials also testified that Riley had told them that he and Coates had burglarized the private car of W. E. Maxson, a prominent Santa Fe official, while it stood in the Fort Worth yards on February 17. Both men, according to the officers, wore shirts bearing on their sleeves the monogram "E. E. T." the initials of E. E. Taylor of Cleburne, a Santa Fe official, who was a guest of Maxson on the car, and whose traveling bag, together with another, was stolen at that time.

Indicted June 7.
Riley was found guilty of the charge against him here and the jury fixed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary. Coates' alleged participation in the crime did not come as a surprise, as he was indicted for it by a grand jury here on June 7. Owing to the fact that police were then searching for Coates the indictment was kept secret.

Clyde Tucker, who fled from Fort Worth with Coates after the murder of Zella Faulk, was charged with her murder by a complaint filed in Justice Moore's court late Monday night by Barney Pinn, Bertillon expert of the police department. Captain Charles Young of the North Side police, who knows Tucker, immediately secured an alias warrant for his arrest, and left at once for Portland, where Tucker, with Coates, is under.

Water Plant Breaks—Fire Destroys Homes

By the Associated Press.
Hillsboro, July 11.—Record breaking heat yesterday, accompanied by a breakdown at the city water plant during efforts to supply the unprecedented demand for water, had its climax early today in a fire that destroyed five residences. ## WACO BREAKS CONLEY'S RUN OF 19 GAMES

DEFEAT DALLAS 8 TO 3 YESTERDAY LEAGUE RECORD TIED.

By the Associated Press.

Dallas, July 11.—After winning nineteen consecutive games and tying the National league record, Conley met his Waterloo at the hands of Waco today, 8 to 3. The pitcher showed plainly the strain under which he was working and it was his two fumbles on bunts in the third inning that paved the way for a Waco lead which the home club could not overcome. Both Conley and Zinn were hit hard. Palmer twice hit a sign in right field for $100. Score:

"Business today was just twice as good as we expected that it would possibly be," is the way T. D. Humphreys, manager of the Herrick and McLary Auto company summed up the results of the first day of their big clearance sale of second hand automobiles. "Due to the fact that we have had many requests from out of town people to extend the sale a few days because of their inability to get to Waco on the two days of the sale as advertised, we have decided to extend the bargain prices on these used cars a few days longer. "Almost every well known make of car is represented in the display of used cars which are on sale, and it is a very hard man to please if we cannot fit him out."

DR. FISK SAYS WAR MAY MAKE US STOP EATING SO MUCH.

Special to The News.

New York, July 11.—"The stupendous need of such work as that of the Life Extension Institute is pointed out with almost tragic clearness in the physical examination of recruits for service in this great war. 'Physically unfit' is the sentence pronounced all too frequently."

It was Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute, who said this. The work of the institute to which he referred is, to quote from a volume on 'How to Live' by Doctor Fisk and Prof. Irving Fisher, "the extension of human life, not only as to length, but also, if it may be so expressed, as to breadth and depth." The Life Extension Institute is a bridge between the laboratories of science to all the people. It is a non-commercial organization attempting a big work—the prolongation of human life.

"America has been in a state of calm peacefulness for a good many years," said Doctor Fisk. "Democracy has led with an easy hand—compulsion has been an unknown force. As a people we are pretty soft and flabby, unused to and unfit for strenuous physical effort or hardship of any kind. It is a very tragic lesson but the war may show us how seriously we lack in bodily efficiency—how hard is the uneven combat of the iron will of autocracy against the undirected spirit of democracy."

"Of course no American would exchange democracy, with whatever shortcomings it may have, for autocracy, however efficient. But we must not ignore the physical development of the people in our vision of the ideal. 'Yes, and there is another lesson for America in this trying wartime, the lesson of simple, sensible eating. Many people eat too much."

"Meal time, in wartime, has important significance for all the people. To the well-to-do who can afford it, the perishable foods are their duty."

"We hear a great deal about pre-

NAVS HOME TODAY FOR VISIT WITH US

By POP BOONE.

"Have you got any message to send to the home fans?" I asked the Big Skipper to Dallas Sunday.

"Nope," he answered in that slow, thoughtful way of his; "nope—only you can tell 'em we've been battling 'em up here."

And battle 'em they did, believe me! The Subs locked out 'em two of the five games, but they had to get unheard of breaks in both their wins to keep the Navs from making a sweep of the series.

Of course, I don't hope for the Waco club to overtake the Subs this season. Only a succession of injuries to regular players like we had, or serious dissection on the Dallas club can ever cause them to lose out after acquiring a ten-game lead on the Fourth.

But I do contend that the Navs are showing better every day and it wouldn't surprise me a great deal to see the dissection develop on the Dallas club any day and to see Waco make the Patterson going hustle like the dickens yet. Manager Hardy has sent transportation to two or three players, at least three of whom may show up on the job today. He has been short-handed since the release of McMahon and Dickerson and needs another pitcher badly. The Navs open with San Antonio today for a long home stay and having just rounded back into full strength should show the home folks some classy ball in the next twelve or fourteen days. The opposing club today will be Clayton Perry's Bronchos, who have been showing a lot of stuff lately. Game at 4:30.

blood remedy that has been used with highly satisfactory results for Scrofula. Being made of the roots and herbs of the forest, it is guaranteed purely vegetable, and absolutely free from all mineral ingredients.
